Evergreen and ZinX on Banana Nursery

Evergreen and ZinX on Banana Nursery

While Mindanao dominates large-scale export production, Luzon has extensive banana cultivation for domestic supply and regional trade.

Foliar application is an important nursery management practice in banana production, particularly for tissue-cultured seedlings and young planting materials. It provides readily available nutrients that support early vegetative growth, improve seedling vigor, enhance root and leaf development, and promote uniform establishment prior to field transplanting.

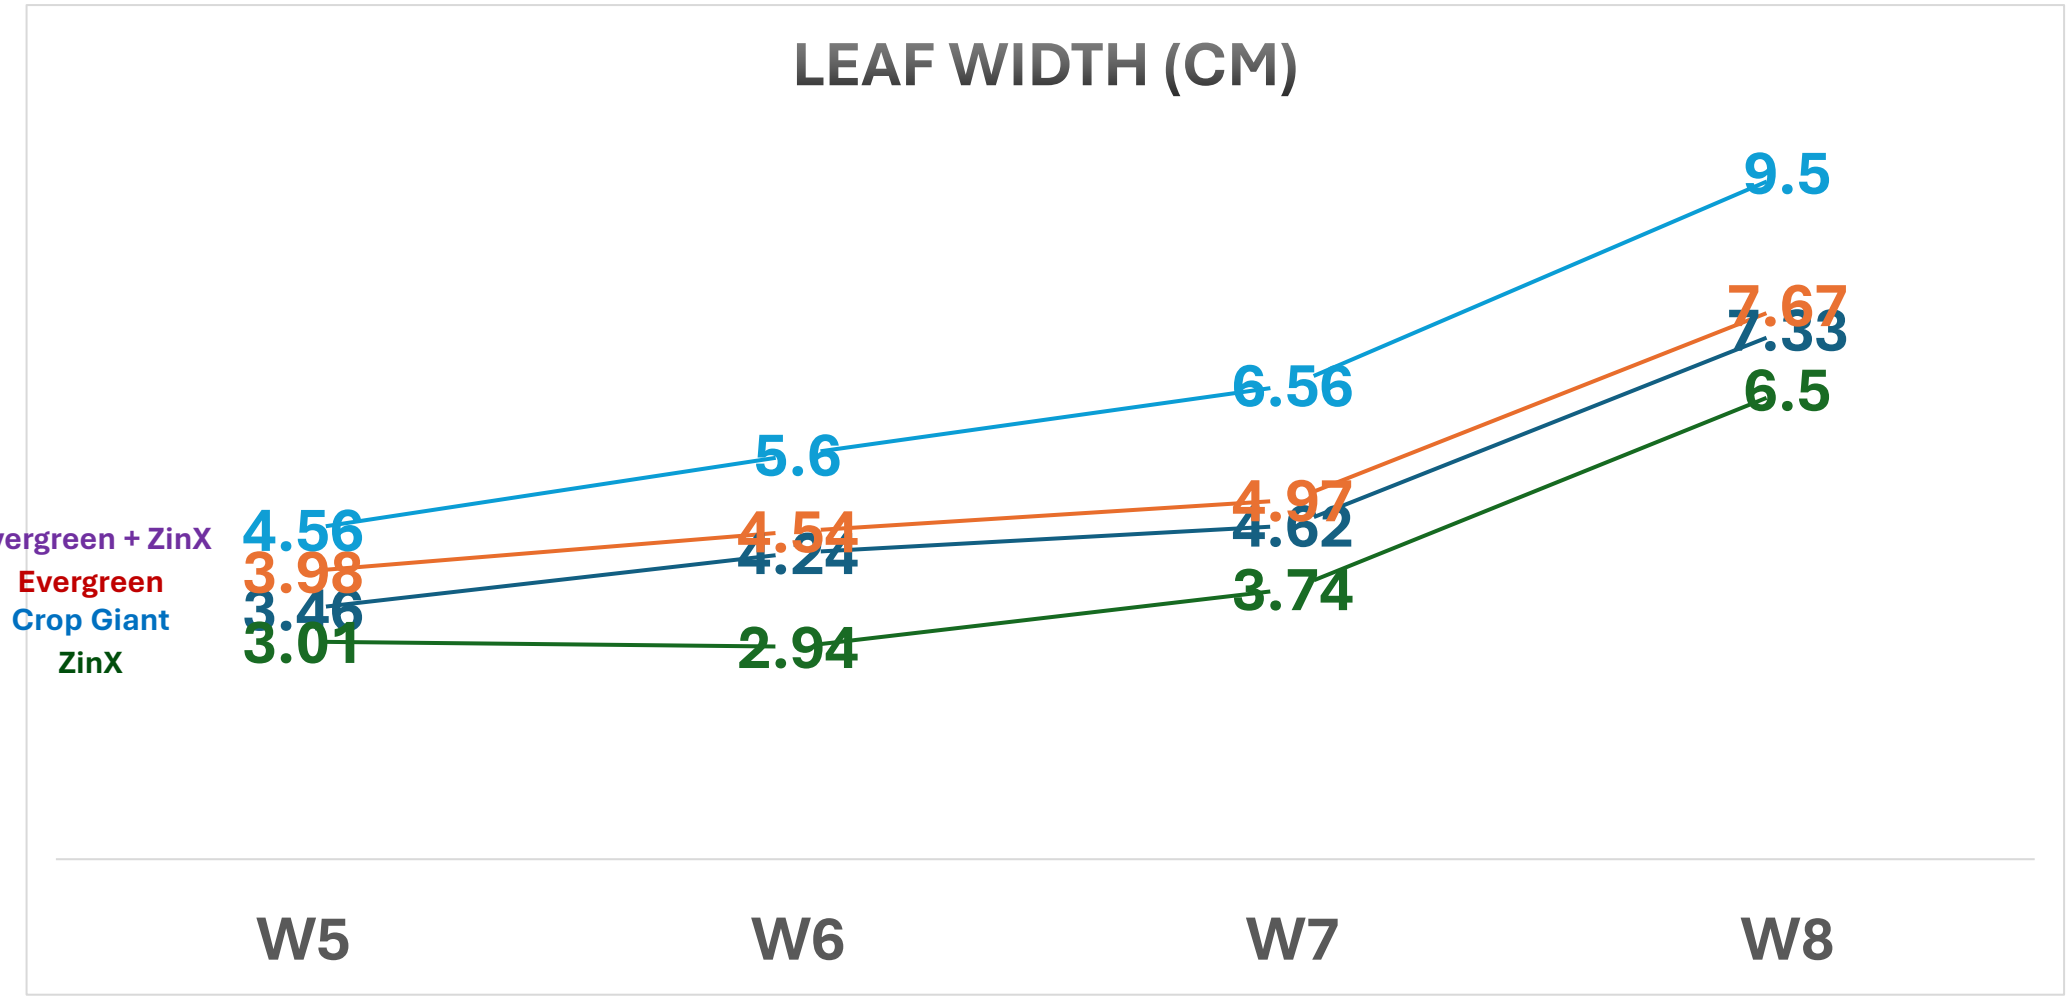

In plantations, shortening the time the seedlings are kept in nurseries before transplanting is highly beneficial both for reducing upkeep and for hastening strain development.
